WE NOMINATE

Herbert Smith Bailey, Jr., an enthusiastic Princetonian for some 15 years, who this week—on precisely the eighth anniversary of his appointment to his first post-war job—became the youngest director of a major university press in this country. In 1946, following his return from World War II, Bailey joined the Princeton University Press as Science Editor. Last Monday at age 32 he was named Director of the Press, the fifth man to hold the post in the past four decades and successor to Datus C. Smith Jr., currently completing a world-wide survey as first president of Franklin Publications, a private independent organization devoted to publishing scholarly books in many languages and for all nations.

It was in the Fall of 1938 that Bailey, a native of New York City and a graduate of the Horace Mann School, established his headquarters here as a member of the University's Class of 1942. Since then, with the exception of war-dictated absences, including a tour of Pacific duty aboard the U.S.S. Intrepid, Bailey has made Princeton his home. He stepped almost directly from the Nassau Hall commencement-platform to the Midshipmen's School at Northwestern University, completed advanced work at Harvard and M.I.T. and returned to the Princeton campus as an instructor in the Pre-Radar School that in makeshift facilities helped train nearly 900 of the Navy's radar scientists.

Bailey's 1946 assignment as the Press' Science Editor, a post he was to hold for seven years, suggested an individual overwhelmingly interested in the span of science. Nothing could have been farther from actuality. For instance, as a Princeton undergraduate he carried off honors in the Department of English, tutored others in the mysteries of physics and was designated Class Poet by his classmates. He crammed in as many scientific and technical courses as his plan of study allowed and yet won awards for creative writing, a rare combination of talents which has since permitted him to collaborate with physicists and mathematicians, to scan scientific manuscripts from the point of view of the humanist, to plan programs for the Naval Research Reserve.

For the past 16 months, while his predecessor has been bricking the foundations for Franklin Publications, Bailey has been directing the Press' book-publishing program that annually attracts from 500 to 1,000 "book-possibilities" and is now, in the face of ever-rising costs, "farming out" some of its printing to plants in England and Holland. Indicative of the international stature of the Press, first organized as a non-profit corporation in 1898 and one of the "Big Five" among university presses in the United States, is the fact that its overseas distribution has risen from an almost imperceptible percentage before Pearl Harbor to some 25% of its total volume in 1953.

For his deep interest in narrowing the gap between those who know and those who want to know; for his understanding of all that is implied by the fundamental concept of the freedom to publish; for making the University Press, one of this community's remarkable institutions, "both my vocation and my avocation;" he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

Topics of the Town

Race Reaches Climax. The most hotly-contested election Princeton has known in years, rivalled only by the interest shown in last fall's referendums on parking and consolidation, will be held Tuesday night in the township's Valley Road School. Three terms of three years each will be filled, as will an unexpired two-year term, with eight candidates divided into separate camps of four each competing for the volunteer positions.

No contest exists in the borough, and in neither municipality has the budget been given even passing attention by the voters. Both budgets will be higher when approved, to make salary increases possible and to meet increasing costs of supplies. The borough increase will add seven points (of an estimated 20 in all) to the 1954 tax rate; in the township, taxpayers will be asked to provide $48,000 more for school purposes.

Charges Answered. To the charges made last week by the Parents and Taxpayers Group for the Independent Candidates (backing Mrs. Frederick H. Nicoll, Mrs. Francis J. Darke, William L. Wilson, James A. Perkins), the opposing quartet issued strong denials. Backed by the Citizens Committee of Princeton Township, they are William F. Gale, John M. Landis, William M. Sloane and Delos C. Schoch.

Each of the four emphasized that his own candidacy was "independent," that he served no political group or interests and that Dr. William S. Carpenter (chairman of the Citizens Committee) did not select the slate. Typifying this attitude, Mr. Schoch declared:

"I did not know Dr. Carpenter at the time I accepted the candidacy, nor did I meet Dr. Carpenter until after filing to run for election. I should like to go on record as being (to quote the P. and T.' group) 'beholden to no leader, and bound by no political promises.' "

The committee further asserted that its candidates were the first to file their petitions, and that accordingly the accusation that the two incumbents (Mrs. Nicoll and Mrs. Darke) are being "purged" is untrue. When their petitions and those of Mr. Wilson and Mr. Perkins were filed, the statement comments, no countercharge was made that Mr. Gale was being purged. The Citizens' Committee also felt that its counterpart was guilty of a "display of a lack of common courtesy and a release of unwarranted charges."

"Bungling . . . Incompetence." Dr. Carpenter declared this week that his committee, formed more than five years ago, has been successful on two occasions in the past in seeking to "safeguard the permanent interests" of the township. He cited passage of the $770,000 bond issue "despite the opposition of citizens who demanded consolidation with the borough school system," and later, defeat of a "pro-consolidation" slate of candidates at the hands of those endorsed by the Citizens Committee.

Dr. Carpenter declared that the four men this committee is now backing have been endorsed "after many citizens had attended school board meetings where they were not only shocked by the bungling and incompetence exhibited in the conduct of the public business but also were genuinely alarmed at the efforts of some members of the board to substitute for the wisdom and experience of the superintendent and her associates their own untried methods of education."

Dr. Carpenter's statement reported that the committee's candidates were selected by a subcommittee consisting of Mrs. Robert W. Watt, Professor David A. McCabe and George L. Nicholas. Following endorsement by the committee as a whole, another sub-committee—headed by Olin V. Mitchell—was named to direct the campaign. Its other members are Mrs. Ralph M. Hagen, Mrs. George L. Nicholas, Arthur J. Tighe, Laurence Swinburne and Robert W. Watt.

The Parents and Taxpayers Group launched its campaign to an accompaniment of "abuse of the Citizens' Committee and its chairman," Dr. Carpenter continued. "Wholly unfounded charges were uttered in an attempt to confuse the voters and to obscure the real purpose of these late candidacies."

He emphasized that the Citizens Committee "is a permanent organization which welcomes to membership all citizens who desire the prosperity of the municipality." Non-political in nature, he said, "it will continue in the future as the past vigilant to maintain the integrity of our local institutions and will endorse the best candidates who stand for elective office."

Question Posed. Two letters on the subject of the elections have been received by TOWN TOPICS. One, from Mrs. Laurence Swinburne, charges that Mrs. Nicoll and Mrs. Darke "stand for the revival of the attempt to put an end to an independent school system for the township," pointing out that the issue of consolidation can legally be placed before the voters within the next two years and that three-year terms are involved in this election.

"No one questions the right of Mrs. Nicoll and Mrs. Darke to work as citizens for the consolidation of Princeton Township with Princeton Borough during the next three years," Mrs. Swinburne writes. "The question for the voters of the Township School District to decide is whether they want to put persons on the Board of Education who will work to terminate the school system of which they will have charge."

Dr. Chauncey's Stand. Dr. Henry Chauncey, president of Educational Testing Service and a former member of the township school board, has whole-heartedly endorsed the re-election of the two women incumbents. His letter, based on several years' association with them on the board, comments:

"They have worked earnestly, intelligently and unselfishly in the interests of the township schools. They have gained experience and background that will make them particularly valuable during the difficult years that lie ahead, in which, because of the increased school population, important decisions will have to be made."

The candidacy of Dr. Perkins offers an unusual opportunity to township voters, Dr. Chauncey feels, stressing his association with Princeton University, Swarthmore and now the Carnegie Corporation, one of the country's largest educational foundations. "Dr. Perkins has crowded such rich educational and administrative experience into his career that his candidacy seems to me to present a rare opportunity to the voters on Tuesday," the letter comments.

It concludes: "He spends his time on the business of education, and he has a special interest in the Valley Road School because he has three children there. His attainments and his interest seem to offer a guaranty of significant service to the board."

"Vote for the Individual." The Parents and Taxpayers Group issued its final statement, declaring that it has endorsed its candidates on a basis of "merit and experience." It declares: "We believe very deeply that 'sides' and slates have no place in a local school board election, and that the voters of Princeton township should go to the polls Tuesday evening and vote for those individual candidates each voter thinks are best fitted for service on the Board of Education"

The Nicoll-Darke-Wilson-Perkins candidacies can best be tested by their beliefs on the task of

No "Group" Voting

To clarify a possible misunderstanding, it should be pointed out that residents of Princeton Township are not required to vote on a group basis for candidates in Tuesday's election. Each of the six candidates for three-year terms is, in fact, running against the other, while the two candidates for the unexpired two-year term are bracketed separately.

Those seeking the three three-year terms appear on the ballot in this order: William L. Wilson, Louise Darke, William M. Sloane, William F. Gale, James M. Landis, Kate Nicoll. The order (drawn by lot, in accordance with state law) for the two-year post is James A. Perkins and Delos C. Schoch.

Cheese Atlas. "Cheeses of All Nations" is a specialty shop in New York, and from its list of 300 cheeses, Princeton Gourmet has selected the best of the basic cheeses to offer Princeton shoppers.

In the shop at 180 Nassau, the Gourmet will refrigerate the cheeses, and sell the perishable ones only during the two-week period when they are at their peak. So, the Camembert, the Brie, the Danish Bleu or the French Roquefort that you buy will be approaching the optimum, and if you want to taste them at their best, you'll eat them up before the two-week period has passed.

Cheddars, provalones and so on, will keep almost indefinitely—you may eat these at your leisure.

We tasted a Norwegian sturgeon smoked cheese, a solid Scandinavian slice that didn't need the support of a cracker. It turned out to be much more delicate than its gamey title had led us to expect. Not so sharp as a hickory smoked cheese, not so fishy as a lobster pate, but a little of both.

Beside the basics, like Roquefort and cheddar, the Gourmet will stock German Hartzekase, a Limberger-type cheese; Norwegian Karvi with carraway seeds, and a Swiss Sapsago for grating.

Anything else you want can be ordered from that list of 300 cheeses, and shipped from New York to any spot you name. There are gift boxes, too, ranging from $4.50 to about $15 or $16, if you have the cheese packed in a Scotch Kooler. Why not buy the wooden bucket filled with cheese spread?

The Gourmet plans to have a weekly cheese special, now that this new line is on the shelves. This week: Danish bleu.

Sugar's Sweet, So Are You. Valentine's Day is a week from Sunday. Done all your heart shopping? If you haven't, we can tell you where to go. Viedt's, 110 Nassau, has the Whitman Sampler in its classic box. Schrafft's candy comes in heart-shaped boxes, and so does Fanny Farmer. Some boxes have a Valentine doll on the front, and you may buy a doll separately, if you wish.

The price range at Viedt's goes from 25c for a chocolate heart in a box that says I Love You, to $7.50 for a heart box with red lace on the front. A big red lollypop, shaped like you-know-what, has one of those old-fashioned conversation hearts in its center.

These motto hearts must have been around since the days of the good saint himself. They are 70c a pound. Anything you buy here can be wrapped for mailing, but don't wait too long.

At Thorne's, 168 Nassau, Whitman boxes by the shelf-full. But maybe, while you're here, you'd like to see the Valentine perfumes. Tell your nearest and dearest that prices begin at $2. But he can go all the way to $27.50, if he wants to.

Schiaparelli's Succes Fou would be nice; it comes in a heart-shaped box. The famous Mrs. Stevens candies, handily packed in a metal tin for shipping, are here, too.

Planning a Valentine Party? Buy matching paper cloth, plates and napkins at The Black Lantern, 8 Chambers. A red nut-cup has a little head on top with a red hat. All kinds of little heart candies: the favorite old red-hots, white sugar with a red heart center, and sugar cubes with hearts for a Valentine tea-party.

White plastic boxes are 15c empty. You have them filled with the candy of your choice. Cardboard heart boxes, from 29c to 50c, are filled with Valentine candy. If you prefer chocolate to red and white hearts, you may fill a heart box with a chocolate selection, starting at $1.65.

Don't miss, in the gift card rack, a 9x12 inch Valentine that opens up to 18x24. It's $1.

being a school board member, the committee stated, referring to the advertisement that appears on page six of this issue. "We ask the voters only to read that statement, think about its principles," the committee said, "and then decide whether the school board can afford to be without the kind of people who wrote it and signed it."

Who's Who. Candidates for the Township Board of Education have been asked by the League of Women Voters: "What is your principal reason for wishing to serve on the board, including what you feel would be your primary responsibility as a board member?" Their replies, together with a brief biographical background provided by the League, are presented here, with the candidates listed in alphabetical order. (For the order in which they drew positions on the ballot, see box, page 2.)

MRS. LOUISE N. DARKE, 61 Laurel Road, a graduate of the University of Illinois and a former teacher in that state, is the mother of three children in the Valley Road School and one in the high school. A resident of Princeton for the past six years, she is a former president of the Township PTA and is completing her second year on the school board.

"I am deeply interested in our schools; I have gained some experience during the past few years which I believe will be useful to the board during the next three years. The responsibility of each board member is to decide matters of policy with honesty and temperance, modifying the ideal with the practical."

Why Meyner Won

The New Jersey Poll this week presents an interesting analysis of the shift in voter opinion that brought victory last fall for Governor Robert Meyner over Paul L. Troast.

A statistical comparison is given to contrast the voting record of many groups, age-brackets and occupations in 1952, when the State went heavily for President Eisenhower, and a year later, when it elected its first Democratic governor in a decade. The Poll appears on page 17.

WILLIAM F. GALE, 59 Birch Avenue, was educated in Princeton public schools. Operator of a dry cleaning concern, he has been on the school board for three years and has lived in Princeton since 1900.

"As a citizen I feel it my civic duty to serve when asked or elected in this community. I feel my primary responsibility as a member of the school board would be to serve and vote on matters, to the best advantage of the school system and citizens of the Township."

JOHN W. LANDIS, 111 Laurel Road, graduated from Lafayette College. A Princetonian for the past seven years, he is associated with Babcock and Wilcox, heading the Atomic energy division of its customer relations department. He is the father of two children, the older of whom is enrolled at Valley Road.

"I wish to contribute to the welfare of the community in which I live. My chief local interest is, and has been for some time, the school system. If I am elected, my primary aim will be to assist in development of sound policy prerequisite to providing township children with the best education we can afford."

MRS. KATE E. NICOLL, 287 Western Way, graduated from The University of Saskatoon, Canada, from which she also holds her master's degree. A resident since 1943, with four children now in public schools here, she is a former PTA board member and is finishing her sixth year on the school board. For the past year and a half, she has been its president.

"Turnover in our membership has been too great of late. Continuity now is essential. My responsibility would be to stimulate public interest in the improvement of an already excellent school system, and to implement improvement at the policy level by board action."

WILLIAM M. SLOANE, Valley Road, is an attorney practicing in New York. He holds degrees from Princeton University and New York Law School. A resident of Princeton for 25 years, he has three children, one of whom is old enough to attend Valley Road School.

"I wish to take an active part in the school system which my children are now and will be attending. My primary responsibility as a member of the Board of Education would be to insure that the educational opportunities offered by our school system should be the best possible, consistent with the needs of the community and its ability to provide them."

WILLIAM L. WILSON, 225 Jefferson Road, is a Dartmouth College graduate who did post-graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania. Now in his fifth year here, he is vice-president of Commercial Investment Trust, Inc. in New York. He has two children in the Valley Road School.

"With my running - mates, I want to protect the board from domination by any organized political group, even one with good intentions. If elected, I will be personally independent, trying to help as a businessman in the difficult job of having the best possible schools at the lowest possible cost."

Candidates for the two year-term:

JAMES A. PERKINS, Edgerstoune Road, received his bachelor's degree from Swarthmore College (which he later served as vice-president) and holds a master's and PhD. from Princeton. Now vice-president of the Carnegie Foundation, an educational foundation, he has three children in the Valley Road School.

"Education is my business and I should like to contribute this experience to my community."

DELOS C. SCHOCH, Ridgeview Road, graduated from the University of Washington. A resident here for 15 years, he is head coach of rowing at Princeton. He has one child at Valley Road and another will enter there in the fall.

"I have a vital interest in the schools. Asked to run, I feel it a duty that no citizen in good conscience can refuse. My primary responsibility would be to aid in the making of policy governing school administration, and to advise and discuss problems and affairs to further the progress of education and educational facilities."

In the borough, the three incumbents are seeking re-election and have already received community endorsement since they are unopposed. They are Dr. Elizabeth H. Cawley, 111 FitzRandolph Road, a former school teacher and college professor who is now board president; Dr. Jeremiah S. Finch, 76 Alexander Street, Assistant Dean of the College and associate professor of English at Princeton; and Dr. Elmer G. Homrighausen, 80 Mercer Street, head of the Department of Christian Education at Princeton Theological Seminary.

Borough Taxes Up 20 Points. A tax rate of 4.92, 20 points higher than in 1953, is anticipated for the next 12 months by the mayor and council. Mayor P. MacKay Sturges credited the increase to a six-point jump in the borough budget, plus seven points each for the public schools and Mercer County.

"The increase in costs over 1953 is due largely to a rise of about $8,000 in the annual police pension premiums and to a modest increase in employee compensation," he reported. The local rate of 1.33, third lowest in the last seven years, is approximately on a par with the 1935 figure, the mayor said. Borough rateables are now worth some $44,500,000, he revealed, but nearly 60% of this figure is tax exempt.

Fifteen years ago, Mr. Sturges pointed out, the tax rate was 3.49. In the intervening years, the school tax has increased 113 points, the county 47 and the borough 13.

The Red-Faced Reds. The tank in which eight Czechoslovakians rode through the Iron Curtain to freedom will arrive in Princeton about 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon and will be on view in Palmer Square. Its appearance here will aid the fund-raising drive for the Crusade for Freedom, sponsored in Princeton by Princeton Post No. 76, American Legion, and The Daily Princetonian.

It was last summer that the somewhat-camouflaged tank, built under the noses of the Communists, escaped from Russian-dominated Eastern Europe into Bavaria. Two Czech mechanics, Vaclav Uhlik and Joseph Pisarek, who were responsible for its successful trip, will be in Princeton with it on Saturday.

The tank will serve as a bank for dollars given to aid the programs being beamed by Radio Free Europe to countries silenced by the Iron Curtain. On back of the 30-foot trailer on which the tank is mounted is a giant cable

We Believe

1. That the greatest responsibility of the people of Princeton Township is to its children, for in them we are educating our share of America's next generation.
2. That they must be given maximum educational opportunities to become self-reliant, tolerant, courageous and mentally equipped to live happily in tomorrow's world.
3. That Princeton Township's school system has met its responsibilities well but that improvement is always possible.
4. That good education is created by good teachers, who teach better in a good environment, but that frills and gadgets are no test of a good school system.

KATE C. NICOLL

Therefore We Pledge

That we shall always work to get for Princeton Township's children the best possible education, so long as not a single unnecessary dollar is spent and,

If elected to the Board of Education, we will each act and vote according to his or her individual judgment and conscience toward the attainment of these objectives.

Auto Show Ready. Princeton's automobile dealers will put 40 different 1954 models on display this Saturday and Sunday at the first Princeton auto show. The models will be displayed from noon to 9 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday in the Acme Supermarket building of the Princeton Shopping Center.

Elaborate preparations have been made for the expected crowds. Door prizes consisting of baskets of groceries will be given away every half hour on Saturday and Sunday while the first 300 women to attend the show will receive Hawaiian orchids. Other features will include souvenirs for adults, free refreshments and music.

Princeton dealers participating in the show include: Brook Motors (Nash and Willys); Gregory Buick; Frank E. South's (Cadillac and Oldsmobile); Gerber Chevrolet; Arthur J. Turney Motors (Plymouth and Dodge); Jack Lahiere Motor Sales (Plymouth and Chrysler); Conover Motors (Mercury); Shelton Motors (Plymouth and DeSoto); Kenneth M. Doten, Inc. (Studebaker); Titus Motors (Pontiac); Nassau Motors (Ford), and Silvester Motors (Packard).

Letter Carriers' Appeal. Letter carriers in the Princeton Post Office are asking the public's support in gaining passage of bills now before Congress authorizing a pay increase for carriers throughout the nation. They point out that their last raise was granted in 1951 and that in the past three years, the cost of living has gone up some 15 to 18%.

Letter carriers, paying for their own uniforms, are the only government employees who do so. They must also purchase their identification badges.

The bill, on which hearings start Monday before the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee, provides for an $800 increase and elimination of the two lowest pay grades. It has been assigned number HR 2344 in the House and S 1685 in the Senate, with letters commenting on it to go to Congressman Charles R. Howell or Senators H. Alexander Smith and Robert C. Hendrickson.

Further information may be obtained from Joseph Perone (1-2238-W), president of Branch 268, National Association of Letter Carriers. Charles A. Stryker, Jr. is the secretary.

Beagles Threatened. The following letter has been received from the director of public relations for the New Jersey State Federation of Beagle Clubs:

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

May I ask your consideration in giving publication to the following resolution adopted at the regular meeting of the New Jersey State Federation of Beagle Clubs, Inc., held at Trenton on January 31:

"The New Jersey State Federation of Beagle Clubs, Inc., will offer a reward of $50 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for the attempted poisoning of several beagles owned by Charles Guinn of 12 Charlton Street, Princeton."

It is hoped that the above will aid the efforts of local police in bringing to justice the person or persons responsible for such a cowardly act.

P.S. The attempt was made with hamburger loaded with arsenic.

Polio Drive Over $6,200. The March of Dimes campaign in the Princeton area has passed the $6,200 mark, according to Mrs. Pauline Skillman of the sponsoring Princeton Soroptimists Club. The figure is just over half the unofficial goal for the drive.

The Mothers' March on Polio raised approximately $2,800 and the Mile-of-Dimes project raised $239. A number of other fund-raising events will be held before the campaign closes on February 15, including a benefit dance planned by Nassau Aerie No. 2732, Eagles, for next Saturday.

Also, Mrs. Peter Demauro, Mrs. J. Richard Pelikan, Mrs. Calvin F. Louderback, Mrs. Charles A. Hurford, Mrs. Russell Bettes, Mrs. Nelson W. Thompson, Mrs. Norton C. Jefferson, Miss Jerene Ann Vandenberge and Mrs. David G. Buchanan.

Volunteers from the Business and Professional Women's Club included Mrs. Wesley McCaughan, Mrs. W. A. Konover, Miss Myrtle Hensor, Mrs. Martin J. Reef, Miss Eleanor McCune, Mrs. Harold A. Pearson, Mrs. Dorothy W. Ferguson, Mrs. Alice K. Pierce, Mrs. Nathan A. Everline and Mrs. H. H. Kerr.

To assist in the March of Dimes campaign, the Princeton Junior Chamber of Commerce conducted a survey of Princeton business-

MUTUAL GREETINGS: Celal Bayar (left), President of Turkey, is welcomed to Princeton by Mrs. Harold W. Dodds, while Mrs. Bayar is greeted by Dr. Dodds. The Turkish leader, a strong foe of Communism, made Princeton his first stop on a nationwide tour during the month of February.

Obituaries

Mrs. Harry L. Day of 81 Moore Street died February 1 in Bethesda Naval Hospital, Bethesda, Md. She had been a resident of Princeton since 1952, when she and her husband, a commander in the U. S. Navy, came here from New Haven, Conn.

Mrs. Day was the originator of the New Haven Project, a race-relations plan that has been adopted in other cities, and spoke frequently on the radio in its behalf. In addition to her husband, she leaves three daughters. A service will be held Sunday at the Church of the Epiphany, Durham, Conn., with burial in Haverhill, Mass.

Miss Mary A. Lanahan of 27 Edwards Place died January 26. Daughter of the late John and Katherine Lanahan, she had lived with her nieces, the Misses Mary and Gertrude Lanahan. The service at the Kimble Funeral Home was followed by requiem high mass at St. Paul's Church and burial in the parish cemetery.

men to determine the way in which they wished to be solicited as a means of avoiding duplication. Among those making the survey were Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bahadurian, Dr. and Mrs. J. Clark Gleason, Mr. and Mrs. James O. Driver, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence J. Swinburne, Glenn Gruestle, Edgar Johnson and C. C. Richard.

Democrats Elect. Walter L. Coan was elected to head the Princeton Democratic Club at the organization's annual meeting last week. Other officers chosen included Mrs. William B. Schrader, vice-president; Mrs. William W. Golden, recording secretary; Mrs. Dorothy Hatcher, corresponding secretary; and Robert R. France, treasurer.

Four members were elected to terms on the executive board. They were Angelo Cenerino, Stanley W. Ackley, Mrs. Lester V. Chandler and Tignall W. Morton.

YW Dinner Thursday. Mrs. E. Harris Harbison will be the principal speaker at the Princeton YWCA's annual dinner next Thursday at 6:30 in the First Presbyterian Church. The dinner will include elections to the board and will mark the close of the YW's membership week campaign.

Mrs. Harbison, a member of the national board of the YWCA, has long been active in YW affairs in Princeton and other civic activities. Mrs. John W. Johnson, vice-president of the Princeton board of directors, is serving as chairman of the annual dinner.

Freedom Ceremony Planned. The start of national observance of Freedom Week will be marked in Princeton by brief ceremonies on the grounds in front of Princeton High School at 3 p.m. next Friday, Lincoln's Birthday.

Feature of the event will be the launching of six large plastic balloons, one for each of the six years of Nassau Aerie No. 2732, Fraternal Order of Eagles, the organization sponsoring similar programs throughout the country. The balloons are similar to those used by the Crusade for Freedom to carry messages of encouragement to nations behind the Iron Curtain.

The balloons, which carry appeals from the Aeries inviting finders to join the Crusade for Freedom and envelopes in which Truth Dollars can be mailed, travel as far as 800 miles and Princetonians have been asked to watch for balloons from other states. Speakers at next Friday's ceremonies will include William H. Rhodes, principal of the high school; Perry Silvester, president of Nassau Aerie, and three PHS students.

Holy Name Elects. Officers elected by the St. Paul's Holy Name Society for the coming year are Patrick Coughlan, president; John J. Collins, vice-president; Berling Prince, treasurer; Martin J. Reef, recording secretary, and Thomas L. Brophy, corresponding secretary.

Plans for an active year, including the coming St. Patrick's Day parish party and the Men's Communion Breakfast on March 28, will be considered at the organization's meeting next Wednesday. Wilson Coan continues to direct the basketball team of the Junior Holy Name society, while Joseph Stemmle is continuing as entertainment chairman and Duncan Doyle as refreshment chairman.

Swarthmore Club to Meet. Dr. Courtney C. Smith, president of Swarthmore College, and Mrs. Smith will be honored at a tea this Sunday marking the first meeting of the newly-organized Swarthmore Club of Princeton. The tea will be held at 3:30 p.m. in Miss Fine's School.

Inaugurated as the ninth president of Swarthmore last fall, Dr. Smith was formerly a member of the department of English at Princeton and director of the National Woodrow Wilson Fellowship program. A year ago he succeeded Dr. Frank Aydelotte as American secretary to the Rhodes trustees.

The meeting is being arranged by Dr. J. S. Donal Jr., president of the new organization; James A. Perkins, former vice-president of Swarthmore who is serving as advisor to the club; Miss Shirley Davis, vice-president and arrangements chairman; Mrs. Stanley C. Smoyer, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Perkins, hospitality chairman; and Mrs. Paul G. Herkart, publicity chairman.

TV Film Distribution Planned. Formation of The Public Service Network, Inc., was announced this week by Sherman Price, formerly vice-president and director of distribution at The Princeton Film Center. Mr. Price will be joined in the undertaking by Mrs. Arline Horne, former television circulation manager at The Film Center.

The new firm, Mr. Price said,

Temple Trimmed. Outscored from the floor, Princeton's basketball team made accurate foul shooting the foundation of a welcome upset as it began the stretch run of the current season Tuesday night. The Tigers outplayed a strong Temple quintet, figured to win by six points, for their fifth victory again seven defeats. It was a 68-62 final in Dillon Gym.

In the first half, the Orange and Black caged 16 of 34 field goal attempts (for a fine 47%) and held a 35-33 lead at the intermission. It got six free throws, making three.

Temple increased its defensive measures in the second half, limiting the home forces to a mere seven field goals in 24 attempts (no better than 29%.) But the Owls thereby fouled frequently, particularly during the climactic three-minute period, and Cappy Cappon's improving operatives threw in 19 of the 24 free tosses thus offered them.

Considered good enough to book a number of the nation's top basketball teams, Temple came here with an 11-7 mark. The visitors had an eye for the basket but lacked the play-making that typifies Cappon's attack when it is going well. Many a Princeton two-pointer climaxed the familiar weave and all five starters hit double figures.

Bud Haabestad was high with 19—14 in the first half—and also led in rebounds with 12. Mike Loprete had a good night on both offense and defense; sophomore John DeVoe was the lone substitute Cappon used.

No more than two points separated the teams at the close of each of the first three periods, with the score 17-16 for Temple at the end of the opening round and 35-33 and then 51-48 for the victors. As much as anything else, it was ability to kill the clock on each of these occasions that won for the Tigers. They scored field goals as each period was closing out—within one to five seconds of the round's end, and in the third quarter, after the buzzer had sounded.

A New England trip is set for this Friday and Saturday night, Brown furnishing the opposition at Providence first and then Dartmouth at Hanover. Columbia will be here Wednesday night at 8. It's a tough assignment, but the Tigers must take them all to stay in contention.

PHS Tops .500 Mark. Somerville's basketball team was no match for Princeton High Tuesday, the Blue and White running in front all the way to win, 73-57. The triumph pushed the Little Tigers over the .500 mark for the first time this year, setting their record at 6-5.

Marv Trottman was high with 27 points, followed by Pete Johnson with 20. A fast first half turned the trick, PHS leading 21-13 after eight minutes and 40-29 at the intermission. The Blue and White reserves lost a 61-42 decision in the jayvee affair.

will specialize in the circulation of promotion films to television stations for use in public service programs, offering up to 300 showings annually per film. An audience analysis is a corollory of the service. Limited production of films for program series use by TV stations is also planned, Mr. Price said. Princeton headquarters are at 13 Witherspoon Street.

Fashion Show Heads Named. Mrs. John F. Delaney and Mrs. Thomas L. Brophy have been named co-chairmen of the annual St. Paul's Fashion Show scheduled for March 24 in McCarter Theatre. Duncan Doyle will again direct the production with the assistance of Charles Schultz, vice-president of the Princeton Triangle Club, who will also serve as narrator.

Music is being written hy Fred M. Stewart, musical director of this year's Triangle show. Other committee chairmen named include Mrs. Edwin T. Rose, patrons; Mrs. James Cramer and Mrs. Robert Hoffman, advertising, and Mrs. Kenneth C. Cromwell, publicity.

Catholic Scouts to Meet. Moore than 1,200 scouts and their leaders from troops sponsored by Catholic institutions will meet in Princeton next Friday, February 12, to observe Boy Scout Week. The group will parade at 7:30 p.m. from Borough Hall to St. Paul's Church, weather permitting.

Bishop George W. Ahr of Trenton will review the parade with members of the scout committee, and will award the Ad Altare Dei Cross to a group of outstanding scouts. Among those participating in the program will be the Rev. Edward C. Henry of St. Paul's and Walter M. Riggs, reception committee chairman. The St. Paul's Holy Name Society headed by Patrick Coughlan is making arrangements for the reviewing stand.

Miscellany. A reminder on the urgent need for blood donors as portrayed in last week's advertisement has been issued by the Red Cross. The chapter will provide full details through a call to 2404.

HOW MODERN ARE YOU? Do you climb endless steps fighting a losing battle to maintain a spotless home?

Try the modern way by living in a one-story house. Before you must again face that back-breaking task of cleaning the attic, crowded with useless things that really don't matter to you and you couldn't find if they did, wouldn't you trade this space for larger easier-to-reach closet storage.

Move into one of the fine ranch houses now available from $16,000 to $25,000. Consult Hard candies in glass apothecary jars tied with a red ribbon—try the Princeton Gourmet for these. French nougat and a kind of French caramel at The Gourmet, too.

Permanent Flower Show. Gene Seal is showing his customers a new permanent flower arrangement made of manzanita and a kind of grass that grows in the West. He calls it a "Dwarf-Lace Tree." The little "tree" is made of the grass, backed with the manzanite, and sprayed with a color. We saw it in pale pink. At the base of the tree is a figurine—one of your own, if you like, or one that Gene Seal selects. You'll find him at 200 Nassau Street.

The whole arrangement stands about eight inches high, and is anchored so firmly that you can turn it upside down without catastrophe. You can even pick it up by the branches, yet it's delicate, almost ethereal in appearance.

If you think a Dwarf-lace tree will catch dust, Mr. Seal tells us you may keep it clean with a fine spray of water. Prices start at $4; you may bring in your own dish or use one of the florist's, the price is about the same either way.

If you'd like to take a look at these trees, you'll find a pair of them in the lobby of the Princeton Inn.

Spring Garden. As early and fresh as the first purple crocus—the flower-garden printed cottons at Mary Gill, 230 Nassau, will remind you of hyacinth and daffodil. Black and white outline tulips grow on a lovely sky-blue cotton with long torso pleats. Windmills in blue or lilac on white give color to a demure camisole dress whose top is lace-edged.

For bolder lasses, a green and pink print with green lining inside the hem. A front panel is designed to show off this bright lining. Dress has a high neck in front and a low square in back. Another gaudy print has been used to make a skirt, with olive green butcher linen top and red cummerbund.

An embossed navy cotton is almost formal, with a shaped stole, lined at its "collar" with crystal and pearls. Pale pink edges the neck and provides a background for more beading.

A striking winter dress is snow-white dacron (65%) and Egyptian cotton (35%). In strict shirtwaist style, it has a navy belt and narrow bow. Wash it like a handkerchief.

Silk and worsted are woven together to make a slate-blue dress-cut princess style with wide, low neck outlined with a big white collar. And here's a handsome one: pure black silk with a copper print and copper bow. Lots of spring prints in shantungs and silks, in case you would rather wait for cotton and summer. Prices on the dresses we saw start at $22.95 and go to $39.95.

Bunnydown, Cuddledown. No baby talk, but the names of two new yarns at The Knitting Shop on Tulane Street. Bunnydown is angora and wool, in heathery tones of coral, blue and green; also white and yellow. For a 10-gram ball, 98c.

Cuddledown is a huge half-nylon, half-wool yarn designed for those bulky sweaters you can knit in one evening. Use a big needle—10½ to 13—and knit a sweater from a wide range of colors. A two-ounce skein costs 80c.

Lambs wool has new colors for spring: a horizon blue, aqua, and something remarkable called "Flowering Currant."

Music in Princeton

Short of Expectations. Until recently the pianist Paul Badura-Skoda has been known to the American musical public only through recordings. His recorded performances (especially of Mozart and Schubert) have been excellent and it was no surprise to see McCarter Theatre virtually sold out for his recital last week. What was surprising was the artist's failure to live up to expectations.

His program was a difficult one and demonstrated musical taste rather than an attempt at virtuoso display: Haydn's magnificent Sonata No. 52 in E flat; Mozart's Adagio in B minor and C minor Fantasy; the Suite, Op. 14, by Bela Bartok; and Chopin's B minor Sonata. No supersonic finger exercises here, no flying octaves—simply good and great music aptly arranged into a fine program.

Yet by the time Mr. Badura-Skoda had completed the first movement of the Haydn this reviewer was finding it hard to associate the living sound with the crystal clarity of the recordings. An erratic sense of tempo, blurred running passages with a heavy foot on the pedal, jolting rather than logical dynamics—were the main impressions.

Intermission Angle

Some listeners at Wednesday's concert felt that there was a difference in the quality of Pianist Paul Badura-Skoda's playing of the first and second halves of his program.

The reason: Mr. Badura-Skoda, who had barely made McCarter Theatre on time after rushing from New York where his wife was in a hospital delivery room, learned by phone during the intermission that he was the father of a baby girl. The 25-year old artist has one other child, a boy.

In the Mozart pieces the soloist exhibited many beautiful turns of phrase, but in over-emphasizing details he failed to project any direction of the music towards a climax. Especially in the Fantasy (as well as in Bartok and Chopin) one felt that Mr. Badura-Skoda was thrusting rather than offering the music to the audience, and that his sense of pace and musical timing were as yet but partially developed. Except for some passages of deep and quiet communication in the Adagio and in the Fantasy, the components of melodic lines were usually uneven in tonal weight to a disturbing degree.

The Bartok Suite was the least ambitious work performed. It is a charming set of pieces, quite unpretentious in style and most successful when played in a straightforward manner. But here, too, things were erratic and blurred to the point of allowing a final chord to sound into the opening of the next movement.

From the technical point of view most conservatory-trained pianists can play rings around Mr. Badura-Skoda. What he must depend on is musical insight coupled

McCARTER THEATRE

Tickets for "Stalag 17," first in the series of productions booked for McCarter Theatre this spring, will go on sale Monday at the University Store (tel. 3333). They may be obtained now by mail from the box office and orders should include a self-addressed stamped envelope. (Details on the price scale may be found in the advertisement on this page.)

The idea for "Stalag" came to the authors (Donald Bevan and Edmund Trzcinski) while they were in the real Stalag 17 prison camp in Austria. Both were airmen shot down in raids over Germany and the plot was first hatched when they overstayed the curfew hour in the prison camp theatre. Six years elapsed between their release and the time when Jose Ferrer took on the play, after many producers had rejected it.

The show had a successful 59-week run on Broadway, is a hit movie, and the recently opened road tour is also clicking. George Tobias, Hollywood character actor is starred in the role of Stosh, the barracks clown.

CHILDREN'S SERIES

A play based on the old German fairy tale "Rapunzel" will be given next Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 in McCarter as a part of the Children's entertainment Series sponsored by the Borough Elementary Schools PTA. Reservations may be made by calling 0488-W or 1909, and tickets priced at $1.25, $.75 and $.35 will go on sale at the box office the afternoon of the performance.

The Children's World Theatre traveling group will present "Rapunzel." The organization adapts plays for children and sends several companies out on tour each year. The productions are noted for the performances by the adult professionals and the colorful settings.

FILM CLASSIC SERIES

The 17th series of film classic revivals sponsored by Group Arts will open next Friday with "Tillie's Punctured Romance" starring Charlie Chaplin, Marie Dressler and Mabel Normand. "The Floor Walker," a two-reel Chaplin comedy, will accompany the feature.

Performances will be given once again in McCosh Hall 10 on the University Campus, at 7 and 9 p.m. Both single performance and series tickets may be obtained at the door. (Full ticket information will be found in the advertisement on page 17.)

Next Friday's opening feature is one of Chaplin's earliest full-length productions. One of the great comedian's two-reelers will also be shown with each of the succeeding programs. "Destry Rides Again," "The Bank Dick," "The Blue Angel" and "The Long Voyage Home" are the other titles in the series.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Miss Sadie Thompson (Thurs.-Mon.) creates the mood it wants; of jungle emotions and behavior, spectacle, sex - charged atmosphere. This is done primarily through the wrigglings of Rita Hayworth and good Technicolor South Sea Island photography. But; while retaining the essential mood for obvious box office reasons, the writers have done enough altering of the Somerset Maugham story to take out most of its original punch.

Aldo Ray plays a Marine sergeant sincerely in love with the scarlet lady in question, while Davidson (played by Jose Ferrer) is no longer a minister but a religious fanatic. The acting holds up pretty well, and the overall effect is yellow sensation. Note the extra playing days.

His Majesty O'Keefe (Tues.-Sat.) sends Burt Lancaster off on another series of adventures, this time in a tropical setting. Lancaster finds himself cruising around the Technicolor Fiji Islands, exploiting, fighting, romancing and carrying on with villains and kingships. The heroics are done with more than a touch of laughter and the South Sea setting is handsome. Joan Rice provides the sarong interest.

THE GARDEN

The Glass Web (Thurs. - Sat.) provides some ingenious melodramatics and thus a murder story that varies somewhat from the routine. The story is set as a backstage TV affair, with Edward G. Robinson and John Forsythe doing a crime series which includes the demise of their mutual girl friend (Kathleen Hughes). The finale is neatly held to the end.

Donovan's Brain (Mon. - Wed.) generates some thrills, but most of the time it's a rather average piece of science fiction. Lew Ayres plays a doctor experimenting with keeping animal tissue and then a human brain (Donovan's) alive. By transference the brain takes over Ayres' personality and it turns out that this Donovan was something less than an illustrious character. Gene Evans and Nancy Davis are also in the cast.

Shane (Thurs.-Sat.) repeats in Princeton for the very good reason that virtually without exception those who have seen it before found it a fine Western—one of the all-time greats. It's the traditional farm settlers vs. cattle ranchers story, but told with great skill. The fine acting of Alan Ladd, Brandon de Wilde, Van Heflin and Jack Palance, plus marvelous work with the Technicolor camera and George Stevens's restrained direction do the job.

Hockey Team Faces Brown. The first of seven consecutive Pentagonal League games that will round out its season awaits the Princeton hockey team Saturday night in the large Providence Arena. The Tigers will face an in-and-out Brown sextet, paced by the high-scoring Dan Keefe, who tied Hank Bothfeld for top honors in individual rankings a year ago.

The Bruins whacked Yale, 8-2, in the first of their encounters with the Elis, only to lose to them, 3-2, in overtime when they met a week later on New Haven ice. It was the Rhode Island entry's ability to trim Harvard in 1953 that helped Princeton wrap up its first championship in a dozen years.

Little American International College (from Springfield, Mass.) became the team's second intercollegiate victim of the season Monday afternoon. Four goals in the first period wrapped up the 8-1 decision.

With Derek Price and Roger Boocock of the regular sextet not dressed for the game, Coach Dick Vaughan used a first line of George Hackl, Pete Gall and Pete Millard. The second line consisted of Gordon Wilson, George Scragg and Bevis Longsterth, with Matt Plum and Hugh Watts seeing action as the reserve defensive pair. All five are sophomores who were getting valuable experience for next season.

VERSATILE VETERAN: Ed Stimpson, who plays both offense and defense on the Princeton hockey team, is also captain-elect of the Tiger baseball team. Both outfits are defending champions in their leagues.

John Butsch slapped in a rebound from close range to open the scoring at 5:34, and three minutes later Ed Stimpson fired in a long shot from the blue line. Dick Court, credited with three assists during the afternoon, fed Bevis Longsteth from behind the cage for the third goal at 17:42 and 20 seconds later passed to George Scragg for a high shot that found the mark from the right of the cage.

The visitors averted a shutout soon after the second period opened, beating Blair Torrey with a short poke from in front of the cage. Two more goals in that round and another pair in the third gave the Orange and Black a wide margin. The losers are now 1-4 this season.

In addition to Court with three assists, George Scragg had a goal and two assists and Gordon Wilson two goals and an assist. Scragg is the team's top producer, with eight goals and nine assists for 17 points.

High School Takes Close One. Princeton High School's basketball team took its second one-point victory of the season Friday, outlasting South River, 64 to 63. The Blue and White also holds an 80-79 triumph over Hamilton High.

The Little Tigers were in front during most of the contest, leading by 17-12 after eight minutes and by 36-32 at half-time. But the visitors cut this margin to 50-48 as the third period ended and then staged a determined bid to even the count.

For Other Sports
See Page 9

With something over a minute to go, it was 62-61 for the Little Tigers. Marv Trottman broke through for a layup, making it 64-61, his field goal being matched with a half-minute left by Pete Certo of South River. Trottman was fouled just before the final whistle but failed on both free tosses and the losers could not get off another shot.

Five Princeton High players hit double figures, Trottman and Bob Montgomery each accounting for 15. Bill Rodefeld had 12, Al Terry and Pete Johnson both made 11. Norm Strauser of South River was top man with 18.

Hun Loses Seventh. The Hun School lost its seventh game of the season last Friday, when Stevens Academy took htome a 58-43 triumph. The victors had a 25-19 margin at half time and maintained their lead in the final two periods.

Captain Jim Lavan was high for the Red and Black with six field goals and seven fouls. Rutgers Prep will be here Saturday in Hun's only game this week, while

The New Jersey Poll

INDEPENDENTS' SUPPORT BY 2 TO 1 MARGIN MEANT MUCH TO MEYNER IN 1953

A post-election analysis of the way New Jersey citizens voted in the 1953 gubernatorial election makes clear that many population segments in the state made possible Governor Robert B. Meyner's victory over Turnpike Commissioner Paul L. Troast.

To begin with, the Independents who voted in last November's gubernatorial election preferred Democratic candidate Meyner over GOP candidate Troast by just about a 2 to 1 margin. Sixty-six percent of the Independent vote went to Meyner; 34%, to Troast. At the same time, 11 out of every 100 rank and file Republican voters in the state cast their ballots for Democrat Meyner; whereas only 4 out of every 100 Democratic voters cast their ballots for Republican Troast.

A comparison with the way the New Jersey vote broke down by political party affiliation in the 1952 New Jersey Presidential election brings out more clearly the shift in political sentiment that took place in the state between November, 1952, and November, 1953. For example, whereas Democrat Meyner took 66% of the New Jersey vote in 1953; Democratic Presidential candidate Stevenson took only 40.5% of the Independent vote in 1952.

In 1953, Democrat Meyner took 11% of the rank and file GOP vote; whereas in 1952 Democrat Stevenson attracted only 1.4% of the New Jersey rank and file Republican vote. In 1953, Democrat Meyner lost 4% of the Democratic vote to GOP candidate Troast. In 1952, Democrat Stevenson lost 10.5% of the New Jersey Democratic vote to Republican Eisenhower.

A breakdown of the vote by educational levels shows that 62% of all those with grade school educations (people who have never attended high school or college) and 51% of all those with high school educations (but never attended college) voted for Governor Meyner; whereas 51% of all those with college educations gave their vote to Turnpike Commissioner Troast.

In the 1952 Presidential election, Democrat Stevenson took 47.9% of the grade school educated people's vote; 43.8% of the high school educated people's vote, and 29.2% of the college educated group's vote.

A breakdown of the vote by age levels shows that the Governor took 56% of the 21-29 year old and 59% of the 30-44 year old vote. But among the older voting group—those 45 years and older, GOP candidate Troast took 52% to Meyner's 48%.

In 1952, Democratic Presidential candidate Stevenson won 38% of the 21-29 year olds, 47.2% of the 30-44 year old group, and 39.9% of the 45 years and older.

Finally, an examination of the way the various occupational groups voted in the 1953 gubernatorial election shows that Governor Meyner took 59% of the manual worker vote; 57% of the skilled craftsmen vote, and 52% of the sales-clerical worker vote.

The Governor, however, lost the majority vote in two other occupational groups. Republican Troast taking 54% of the professional people's vote and 61% of the business owner - manager group vote.

The following table shows how the various population groups in the state divided on Tuesday, November 3, 1953, for the two major candidates:

	Meyner	Troast
Independents	66%	34
Republicans	11%	89
Democrats	96%	4
Gr. Sch Education	62%	38
High Sch. Edu.	51%	49
College Education	49%	51
21-29 Year Olds	56%	44
30-44 Year Olds	59%	41
45 Years & Over	48%	52
Professional Workers	46%	54
Bus. Owners-Managers	39%	61
Sales-Clerical Workers	52%	48
Skilled Craftsmen	57%	43
Manual Workers	59%	41

A comparison of the November 2, 1953, New Jersey Poll predictions with the November 3, 1953, official election vote shows:

	Prediction	Official Vote	Deviation
Meyner	51.2%	53.6%	2.4
Troast	47.2%	45.1%	2.1
Ryan	1.6%	1.3%	.3

SPORTS IN PRINCETON

next week's schedule brings the George School here Wednesday and includes a clash with Princeton High in the Seminary gym next Friday afternoon.

Hun will see action for the first time this weekend in a newly-added sport, squash. The first two contests are against Episcopal Academy and Haverford.

Short Notes. The swimming team, which took on Temple Wednesday night, will face Navy in Dillon Pool Saturday afternoon at 3 in the feature event of a limited home sports schedule this weekend. The middies' strong squash team will also take on the improving Tigers in Dillon Gym, with freshman hockey and freshman and junior varsity wresting rounding out the activity here.

Most of the Tigers' home contests are set for the latter part of February and early March. Both the basketball and hockey teams will be on the road again next Saturday, February 13, but both will be here the following Saturday to play Harvard. The 27th finds Brown here for hockey and Yale for basketball, while March 6 brings Dartmouth here for hockey and basketball. The somewhat condensed winter season ends the following Monday when Cornell's title-bound basketball quintet makes its annual appearance here.

The big game in the Eastern Basketball League is set for Saturday afternoon at Ithaca, when a junior prom weekend crowd will pack spacious Barton Hall for the contest between league - leading Cornell (5-0) and second-place Penn (4-1). The Red quintet is favored, but even if it wins will not be a shoo-in. Six of its eight remaining games are away from home.

Pentagonal League action will increase steadily during February. Harvard travels to Dartmouth this Saturday night and Yale will go to Hanover on Tuesday.

The Crimson tackles Brown at Providence Wednesday, Dartmouth will be there next Saturday, with the Tigers going to New Haven the same night. Harvard is still the choice to take the title that Princeton won last season.

with a feeling for musical proportion in the large sense. On the basis of Wednesday's concert these qualities seemed perhaps begun in their development but as yet unmolded into artistic personality of real stature.

SERIES II CONCERT

The Hungarian Quartet, one of the world's leading ensembles, will give the next to last concert in Series II Tuesday at 8:30 in McCarter. Tickets are now on sale at the University Store and will be available at the box office.

The quartet, organized in 1935, is composed of Zoltan Skekly, first violin; Alexander Moskowsky, second violin; Denes Koromzay, viola, and Vilmos Palotai, cello. Their program will include Mozart's E-Flat major, Quartet K.428; Beethoven's Quartet in E minor, Opus 59, No. 2, and the fourth quartet of Walter Piston, who has taught music at Harvard University for nearly three decades and who is considered one of this country's most distinguished composers.
